Fall, Now Aged and Broken, Finds Few Friends as Criminal Trial Starts

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press-Star Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall had the reputation of a remorseless boss in his day. Undoubtedly he has crushed many a better man than himself, as he is crushed now, in turn.

ALBERT B. FALL

But he's squashed no flat! So flat! Granting that he deserves it all, it's to pity him, nevertheless.

FALL had all the externals of a fine, outstanding old frontiersman three years ago, when he arrived in Washington from New Mexico to answer the charges of official misconduct which were just beginning to pile up against him then—somewhat harassed, but full of fight.

He was still a great personage. An ex-senator, an ex-cabinet member, influential, respected, everybody gave him the benefit of every doubt. He had plenty of friends—powerful ones.

NOW, aged, broken and sick, he appears on the scene of his former greatness to stand trial on a criminal charge, as a mere adjunct to the defense of the multimillionaire Harry Sindalah who, caring nothing for him, simply happens to be unable to ward a prison sentence off from himself without incidentally warding one off from Fall, too.

"A faithless public official"—branded by the country's highest tribunal—even though he escapes a cell.

As for his friends of a quarter of a dozen years ago—if one of them gives him a nod, it's contemptuously patronizing. He doesn't get many eyes of those. He isn't a desirable person for a politician to have known.

As a territorial judge in New Mexico, Fall stepped down from the bench to enforce his own decrees with a shotgun, in his own hands.

As pugnacious a senator as ever came to Washington, he stood ready to take the field in person in the event of an armed clash with Mexico, and nobly questioned that he had the nerve.

He ran the interior department like a czar, defying the public to get details of the oil leases he made—and at last we understand why.

FALL was of the Wild West when it actually was wild. If he had been caught jumping a claim or rustling a herd of steers or sticking up a stage, his associates might very well have said, "Well, boys will be boys."

To have discovered that he'd absorbed some of the west's informalities wouldn't have created any great amount of surprise, but it was widely assumed that he had the west's virtues, too. The theory is that the true-born frontiersman won't betray a trust, even though he may be a little careless about homicide.

THE gravamen of official Washington's complaint against Fall seems to be that he's acted out of character. Harry Daugherty, now?

He isn't held up as an example of what a public official should be, to be sure. But what could you expect? That's the attitude.

Fall suffers somewhat the stigma of a supposed gentleman who's caught cheating at cards—which a professional gambler wouldn't mind.

MT. GILEAD GROUP TO ATTEND MEETING

Cleveland Gathering Nov. 4 and 5 Selected by School Teachers

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 19.—The teachers of Mt. Gilead schools voted to attend the annual State Teachers' Association meeting at Cleveland Nov. 4 and 5. They chose to go to Cleveland in preference to the Dayton meeting, which is the seat for the Central Ohio District. P. B. Arnold announced that they were going to Cleveland due to its accessibility.

The primary departments of the school held a school market in the entrance of the Kaypee Theater Saturday and succeeded in taking in a little over $50. The kiddies conducted quite an advertising campaign with great success.

PATHFINDERS' CLASS HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

Cardington, Oct. 19.—The Pathfinders' class of the M. E. Sunday School met at the home of Merrill Gates, northeast of town Friday night. There were 20 members in attendance and a corn party was a feature of the occasion. Devotionals were conducted by the teacher, Mrs. Paul Maxwell, after which the regular business session was held. Inletty Maxwell was appointed assistant secretary. Games and contests were enjoyed. The hostess served a delightful two-course luncheon. Paul Jones, O. S. U. student, was a guest of the class. The November meeting will be held at the home of Eugene Cox, east of town.

EVENING STAR FESTIVAL BOOKED AT CARDINGTON

1 When you trade-in your present car for a new car, you are making a purchase, not a sale. You are simply applying your present car as a credit toward the purchase price of the new car.

2 Your present car has only one fundamental basis of value; i.e., what the dealer who accepts it in trade can get for it in the used car market.

3 Your present car has seemingly different values because competitive dealers are bidding to sell you a new car.

4 The largest allowance is not necessarily the best deal for you. Sometimes it is; sometimes it is not.

5 An excessive allowance may mean that you are paying an excessive price for the new car in comparison with its real value.

6 First judge the merits of the new car in comparison with its price, including all delivery and finance charges. Then weigh any difference in allowance offered on your present car.

Unusually Fine Concerts Presented At Chautauqua Pavilion By U. S. Navy Band

Favorite Selections of President and Mrs. Harding Feature Night Program; Organization Brought Here by Kadgar Grotto

What was undoubtedly one of the finest exhibitions of musical talent and band concert work ever given in Marion, was the concert given by the United States Navy Band before a full-well-filled auditorium yesterday afternoon and last night at Chautauqua Pavilion.

As a tribute to the late President and Mrs. Harding, the band played a number of the selections which they had selected as their favorites at the last appearance of the band at which they were present, were played for the first time since that date, last night. The two numbers, beautifully played, were Mrs. Harding's favorite, "Perfect Day" and "The Star Spangled Banner."

Other feature numbers played as encores, were the marches, compositions of the band.

Band attendance was disappointing. Although the concert was a success from a musical standpoint, attendance was considerably below expectations. Walter S. Guthrie, head of Kadgar Grotto, the musical organization which sponsored the event, stated today.

There were approximately 100 persons, including a large number of school children, at the afternoon concert and 700 heard the night program, Mr. Guthrie said. It was expected that attendance would be practically twice those figures and for that reason the Chautauqua pavilion, which has a seating capacity of approximately 2,000, the largest in the city, was rented for the concert.

Unfavorable weather conditions are assigned by Kadgar Grotto officers as the chief cause of the disappointing attendance.

John H. Rawlings, who directs the organization, included in the group were "The Lure of Alaska," dedicated to President Harding, "Light Cruises," dedicated to Admiral A. L. Willard, "Our Navy," "Call Me Henry" and "Washington Blues."

The program was unusually well-balanced and varied with southern music, feature numbers, marches, opera, several selections by the U. S. Navy Jazz Band, composed of several members of the larger group, as well as other popular classical selections.

The concert numbers were played with skill and artistry and splendid coordination. Especially outstanding was the work of Lieutenant Hunter, who directed the 42-piece band last night and performs the same office for an 84-piece organization in Washington, D. C., as well as the excellent solo numbers of George Unsinn, cornetist, and Louis J. Goucher, xylophonist.

Opening numbers with the overture, "Overture," Ambrosia Thomas, and with the suite de ballet of "Coppelia," Leo Delibes, including the "March of the Bell," "The Automaton," "Waltz of the Doll" and "Hungarian Dance." An especially enjoyable number was the cornet solo, "Arbuckleian Polka," John Hart.

CONTEST WILL AT MT. GILEAD

Contention Over Foye Estate Given Hearing in Morrow County Court

Whether George K. Foye, former Marion man, is entitled to receive the bulk of the estate of his uncle, George Foye, under provisions of a will in the latter's will, is to be decided in a suit, which came up for hearing today in common pleas court at Mt. Gilead.

The suit was brought by L. K. Russell, executor of the will, who named Frank Foye and Isabelle Foye of New York City and George K. Foye as defendants, they being the beneficiaries named in the will and executor, George K. Foye is now a practicing attorney in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Clear Construction Sought. The purpose of the suit is to provide the executor with a clear construction of the will according to interpretation of the court.

In his original will, George Foye, a Marion County bachelor, who died in 1924, left the bulk of his estate to his niece and nephew, Frank and Isabelle Foye. Later a corollary was drawn up, bequeathing George K. Foye, another nephew, approximately $30,000 in money and securities and 300 acres of land in Morrow County.

Frank and Isabelle Foye, according to accounts of the case, are seeking to set aside the will.

The hearing today was held before Judge Vancleave of the Morrow County common pleas court.

More Than 40 Mortgages And Other Claims Listed Against Moon Properties

Charles E. Merkel, Receiver, Files Report in Common Pleas Court; Priority of Numerous Demands Established; Approved by Judge George B. Scofield

More than 40 mortgages and other indebtedness claims against properties of Edward S. Moon, local business man, are listed in a report of Charles E. Merkel, receiver for Moon, filed yesterday in the common pleas court.

The report, which establishes priority of the numerous claims, is one of the first steps in settling up of the receiver ship suit brought against Moon by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio. The priority list was approved by Judge Scofield and the next step will be issuance of an order of sale.

The sale will be one of the largest in the history of local courts, more than 20 pieces of property located in the city of Marion being listed. Practically every property carries one or more mortgages.

Complicated Task. The suit, which was started several months ago, was followed by the filing of numerous claims by the various creditors, resulting in a complicated task for the receiver and his attorneys, Dunham & Dunham, in compiling the report filed for court entry yesterday. They entry was approved by the signatures of 11 local law firms representing the creditors.

Value of the properties is estimated at more than $500,000 and claims of creditors are likely to exceed that amount, attorneys state.

The claim of the Standard Oil Co. plaintiff in the suit, is $284,100. It was designated as a lien of all of Moon's properties.

Suit for divorce was filed in the court of common pleas yesterday by Elmer L. Buttery against Ethel M. Buttery, a divorce being asked on grounds of gross neglect and infidelity.

The couple were married here on Jan. 30, 1924, and have no children, the petition states. Buttery states that his wife deserted him on March 30, 1924, three months after their marriage, and returned in June, only to leave him again in August of the same year.

L. E. Myers is attorney for the plaintiff.

Answer Filed. John A. Key, party defendant in the foreclosure suit of the Realty Loan Co. against Howard A. Stevens and others, filed his answer and cross-petition in the court of common pleas yesterday, setting up a claim of $100 and asking that it be designated as first and best lien against the Stevens property, located in the city of Marion.

Key denies all allegations made in the petition, which included the charge that the Stevens property was deeded to him in an effort to place it out of the reach of creditors. Key says that on Sept. 2, 1929, Stevens and his wife conveyed to him what was purported to be a deed to the property.

Daily Proverb—"Buy what thou hast no need of and ere long thou shalt sell thy necessities."

Down in Mexico, it seems, there is danger even in the appearance of greatness.

It begins to look as though neither residents nor visitors listen to the ringing of New York City's night club curfew.

The best of them fall down occasionally. The other day the New York Herald Tribune printed in its rotogravure section a likeness of "Secretary of War Wilbur."

I. W. W. strikers have been driven out of two Colorado towns. That relieves those particular towns, possibly, but isn't it a pretty mean job to pull off on their neighbors?

It may be just as well for Germany not to talk too much about the great coal and oil deposits recently found in her domain. It might cause Great Britain and France to decide that they also favor a revulsion of the war debt settlement.

It is announced that the smaller size dollar bills will reach the public next October. We do not care if they never come. They are bound to look a lot less important.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler says the average American has lost the art of reflective thinking. The situation may not be so bad as that, but so long as the country stands for the primary and other vicious abuses which have been legalized because of the indifference of the voters, it's pretty much of a cinch that the people aren't staying awake nights to apply their energies to the art.

The New York establishments of a big shoe company have been held up 248 times within the past five years, the total loot taken amounting to over $100,000. By this time the company must be figuring hold-ups in its overhead.

Between 1,500 and 2,000 people turned out in the drizzling rain to greet the "first transatlantic airplane passenger" at the Battery on his return from Europe, but, while the crowd was small, it was sincere in its recognition of the nifty Levine displayed in making the eastward trip and plenty big enough to justify Mayor Jimmy Walker in welcoming him home and getting his picture snapped again, from which we may see that the welcome was a decided success—in the eyes of Mayor Jimmy, at least.

The secretary of the Essex County Automobile club, which has charge of the issuing of automobile touring permits into Ontario by way of Detroit and Windsor says that, although $5,000 such permits were taken out by citizens of the United States, but few liquor permits were issued to them, very little of the $2,000,000 expended in the province by the motorists from this country being paid out for alcoholic beverages. The explanation may be that our motorists were afraid, if they drank the stuff, they might never get back.

Look for the Lightning Rod Man.

Be on the lookout for the lightning rod man. He's coming back again. Nobody has told us so, but we know it just the same, for it's announced that the lightning rod is coming back, and with it is sure to come the lightning rod man.

And he's a genius in his way. We very distinctly recall when he was last with us. Is he a salesman? We should say he is. He is not people so worked up over lightning rods that they bought them if they didn't know whence the next meal was coming. There were lightning rods, with silver-plated or polished copper ornaments on them upon almost every house. The more the lightning rod man sold, the more money he realized, and the consequence was that not only homes, but barns, sheds, corn cribs and in some cases cowsheds and pigpens were generously embellished with them. The lightning rod man was some real embellisher.

The explanation of the recurrence of the lightning rod which, save on ships, telegraph, telephone and electric light poles and high stacks, fell largely into disuse from twenty to thirty years ago, is due to the publication by the department of agriculture of the statement that such rods, when properly installed, pointed and grounded, are almost complete protection against lightning, offering figures to show that ninety-five out of a hundred buildings struck by lightning with resultant fire loss were not equipped with rods.

Trust the lightning rod man to spring up with an excuse like that for springing—government endorsement that he is a public benefactor! And he's liable to do a thriving business. History is bound to repeat itself, despite the fact that many houses, unknown to their owners, are already protected by their roof ridges, valleys, gutters and downspouts. If these are of copper or heavy metal unspainted, they make ideal conductors and the man with a heavy iron rod on his barn who extends three or four widths of the roofing to the ground on each side of the structure has a conductor which ninety-five times out of a hundred will deliver the goods.

What Won't They Do Next?

"What won't they do next?" is a question often heard following the announcement of some new development in the field of science or mechanics.

Just at present that which brings out the question is the "mechanical man," the invention of a Maryland electrical engineer, Deway M. Radcliffe, a new electrical device which is almost human-like in its operation and answers only to "its master's voice." The new device, to our way of thinking, is badly named, for it is not in the semblance of man and no man could do the work it does in anything like the time it uses in doing it, nor any ordinary body of men, for that matter.

The device has been installed by government engineers and is in use at each of two reservoirs of the Dulacarla water plant on the Conduit road out of Washington and a third "mechanical man" is being put into operation at a third reservoir.

The new invention is so described by the Washington Star as to make its workings understandable to one versed in neither electricity nor mechanics, which, it may be said, is something of a newspaper achievement.

This amazing device, the Star says, lifts the receiver at the water plant off the hook when the bell rings upon inquiry as to the water level in the reservoir, automatically plumbs the depth of the water and almost instantly replies by buzzing a number of signals to indicate the depth of the water in feet.

In this way officials interested in the water level may call from any part of the city at any time of the day or night and learn without delay the exact level of the water in the reservoirs.

To ascertain the water depth of a particular reservoir the official needs only to call a certain telephone number, known only to a small circle interested, and the automation does the rest. An alarm as the operator plugs in on the number specified the bell is set ringing in an office of the plant through regular telephone equipment.

The ringing of this bell automatically starts an electro-magnetic device, lifting the receiver and hook by means of an extension arm.

At the same time a float on the surface of the water in the reservoir operates by means of a chain and cogwheel a regulation type selective switch, which regulates the number of buzzes. This float, made of copper, is as large as a small bucket, and this selective switch, contained in a sheet iron box, comprise the transmitting end of the mechanism. The wires run from this switch to the noise-making unit, which is in an office. The latter device resembles a small iron box with hinged door alongside and fastened to which is a regulation telephone.

Through a small aperture in the box extends a narrow iron arm, which lifts the hook and its receiver when the bell rings. Directly over the transmitter of the telephone extends another and longer iron arm, on the end of which is attached a small loud speaker facing the transmitter.

By way of example, when the water is six feet deep in the reservoir to which the inquiry is addressed, the float sets the selective switch so as to register six electrical impulses. These impulses are made to operate a tiny buzzer, and, by means of a radio transformer, are amplified and made audible through the loud speaker. Thus the person calling on the other end hears six buzzes, indicating that the water is six feet deep. The signal is repeated twice, so that there can be no mistake. Any change in the water level is registered on the switch and results in a different number of signal buzzes.

But while Washington tells us how the device works in connection with a water plant, from New York comes word that the Westinghouse people are adapting it to a number of varied purposes by adding certain features which will make it a very valuable adjunct to electrical sub-stations.

Such is the so-called "mechanical man." The feature writers will be telling us more about it, possibly, within two or three weeks, but what we have here presented gives a good idea of its workings. What do you think of it? And, incidentally, what won't they do next?

Without the slightest desire to belittle by comparison the literary merit of Mrs. Rita de Acosta Lydig's magazine articles on New York high life, it may be said that they were in no way superior in interest to some of the disclosures in her $500,000 libel suit against the New York Daily News.

French swimming experts very strongly intimate that the only difference between the feat of Dr. Dorothy Logan in swimming the English channel and some of the other Channel feats performed since 1924, is that she admits that hers was faked, and in this connection they go out of their way to announce that there is not a shadow of doubt about the feats of Gertrude Ederle and Mrs. Corson. In a word, they intimate that Miss Ederle still holds the time record.

Vagrant Verse.

OLD STREET CRIES.

I lie dreaming in the armchair
As the sun is hanging low,
And the city's cobbled streets I see,
In scenes of long ago.

Down them comes a long procession,
Steadily their way they wend,
Heeded by a stooping figure,
Crying, "Old umbrellas to mend."

Knife-grinder, with bell tinkling;
Tireless "horse-draw" man;
Lamp-lighter, with torch and ladder,
Beating kerosene in can.

Here's an old crane with a basket,
Softly "Calamus" she croons;
Chimney sweeps, with ropes and blankets,
Follow, waiting eerie tunes.

"Peppery-pot, smoking hot!"
Comes, an appetizing dish,
Balanced tray on head, this dame calls,
"Cat-a-fish, cat-a-fish!"

There's a burly negro, steering
Loaded barrow 'midst the cabs;
Hear the cheerful tune he's singing,
"Buy my crab-apples—Baltimore crabs!"

"Any of 'em, of 'em, of 'em?"
Blends with cries of "Corn, hot corn!"
Then I start and rub my eyelids,
Wakened by a motor horn!

HENRY'S NEW MODEL ISN'T THE ONLY ONE WE'RE WAITING FOR.

Headache on One Side.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

From time to time I have told you about headache, its forms and how to overcome it. Today I want to refer briefly to a special and very annoying type of headache.

We ought not to have bewitched. We should not be conscious on our various parts and organs. It is only when there is something wrong that we have them forced upon our attention.

What a wonderful day it is when you get up in the morning "feeling like a million dollars"—not an ache or a pain and no worry of any sort, except the desire for a big breakfast! As we grow older such days are rare, and yet they ought not to be.

The sad thing about it is that we lay the foundation for most of our troubles before we have learned how to live. That is the reason why parents and teachers should begin early to teach the child the way and wherefore of good health.

A painful ailment of later life would have been avoided had the victim begun early to observe the rules of right living.

We do have symptoms which are pretty obscure to their origin. They are terribly painful things, but it is difficult to find the reason for their appearance.

The symptom I shall mention today is of that sort. It is a one-sided headache. The doctors call it "hemiancra." One side of the head feels perfectly normal. That is, there is not a single suspicion of discomfort, while exactly one-half of the head feels as if it would break open. One of my patients described it as if she "had a sore throat from the part of the hair to the bottom of the ear."

Most of the sufferers from one-sided headaches are women. They are women between the ages of eighteen and forty-five. When they get older the symptoms disappear.

Not only does hemiancra appear during the active portion of a woman's life, but also it is very likely to be associated with her menstrual periods. If it appears before the period begins the pain is apt to disappear when the flow starts.

If the flow is scanty there may be an attack during the period. There appears to be a definite relationship between the two symptoms. If the menstrual function is well carried on there is not so much prospect of headache.

The hemiancra may not be observed until just at the end of the period. When it does come it lasts all day, disappears at nightfall, or it may continue for two or three days.

It is not uncommon for this symptom to run in a family. The victim tells us that her mother had it. Her daughter may inherit it.

The last thing I can tell you about this trouble is that it is no more serious than the temporary suffering. The kind of headache I am talking about does not mean brain disease or any other really serious trouble.

Temporary relief of the pain may be had by using hot and cold applications to the back of the neck. First apply a towel wrung out in water hot as can be borne. Immediately afterward dash cold water on the neck.

It may be that cold applications to the forehead and at the same time a hot towel to the back of the neck will be a combination that is helpful. It is worth while to try.

The bowels should be opened and the diet restricted.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

J. P. M. Q.—I have a baby two months old and she will not take any food. What shall I do?
A—Water is not absolutely necessary at this age if the child refuses it, but it should be encouraged to take water.

A. C. C. Q.—What causes sties? What do you suggest in regard to treatment?
A—Inflammation in diet is often the cause. Sometimes the eyes need to be examined. Correct your diet and have your eyes examined to see if glasses are needed. For other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

J. M. T. Q.—What is the cause of gritting the teeth while sleeping?
A—Very often this is a symptom of intestinal worms. For particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.—Copyright, 1927.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medicinal, hygienic and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it can not be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is enclosed. Address all inquiries to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office.

Save us, O Lord our God,
and gather us from among the heathen,
to give thanks unto Thy holy name,
and to triumph in Thy praise.—Psalm 108: 47.

Prayer—Lord, we would be co-workers with Thyself, in gathering souls for Thy harvest.

Editorial Comment.

AN UNSUNG IMMORTAL.

Few Americans, in all likelihood, ever heard of Milan Ciganovitch, much less remember his name. Small wonder, then, that his death some days ago attracted little or no attention on this side of the Atlantic. But Ciganovitch is said to have been the last surviving member of the band of plotters who killed Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo in 1914. And his passing marks the close of one chapter of the events which ended in the World War.

Ciganovitch was credited with arranging to get the three actual murderers of the Austrian archduke into Sarajevo on false passports. It was he, moreover, who was said to have provided them with the bombs and revolvers with which the crime was committed. He was listed in the Austrian ultimatum to Serbia, which brought on the war as one of the conspirators and his deliverance into Austrian hands was demanded. The three actual slayers died in jail during the war. Ciganovitch before the war was hailed as a hero, but in recent years has lived quietly.

Ciganovitch, of course, was only a tool so far as the Great War was concerned. There is considerable reason to believe that the war would have come or not, whether the Serajevo incident had occurred or not; the assassination of the Austrian archduke was simply the spark that ignited the entire powder magazine that was Europe. Ciganovitch, for his part, merely helped to strike the flint and steel. But, like many another man who has started some of his wildest imaginings. He is a wise and fortunate man who goes to his grave an immortal, but unsung.—Ohio State Journal.

WALTER JOHNSON.

There is no pathos in the passing of Walter Johnson. Deep as will be the regret of all baseball enthusiasts there is nothing of tragedy in the decision of this great player to depart from the game and turn to other fields of work. For Johnson quits with his fame unimpaired, with his record unclouded by years of slinking, by years of diminished usefulness, by one season after another of painful struggle against the inevitable.

Many of our great baseball players have found it impossible to separate themselves voluntarily from the game. They have stayed in fast company till they became too slow, and have been eased out as painlessly as possible. Some of them have been content to go on for years in the minor leagues. Obscurity has overtaken them, and their final exit from baseball has attracted no attention.

The valdictory of Walter Johnson is as fine as his career. He himself feels that he has reached the turn of the road. Twenty years of phenomenal service has been enough to make his fame secure as long as baseball lasts. He has no wish to tarry. And let no one waste commiseration. Johnson goes in triumph. He will never suffer the pangs of the "has been." In his new work, whatever it may be, Walter Johnson will be inspired by his consciousness of duty well done and of twenty years experience in a worthy field of endeavor.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PLEASE PASS THE SALT.

The New York Journal, discussing editorially, Nazarela Ismailoff, the Russian soviet government's chief executioner in the Caucasus, has this to say: "After one look at his eye, you are not surprised to learn that this Ismailoff is a dead shot, with his keen eyesight. If you doubt it, he will pull his revolver in a flash and send a bullet through a fly on the wall fifty yards away."

The editor of the New York paper will pardon us as we reach languidly for the salt-cellar. To hit a fly on the wall, a mouse, possibly there do exist even that are several times as strong as normal eyes. Well, what are they? Neither here, nor in Russia, nor anywhere else, does their exist a pistol capable of laying its bullets one upon the other, at a distance of fifty yards, even when fired from a machine rest and aimed with a powerful telescope sight. And that is the kind of pistol that this Ismailoff person would have to own to do what he is credited with doing, even though he could see flies on walls half a block away.—Minneapolis Journal.

Odd and Interesting.

Stammering in Guatemala is market day. Stammering is four times as prevalent among boys as among girls.
Robert Burns wrote some of his best poems while he was a ploughboy.
London has over 2,000,000 inhabitants more than the continent of Australia.

The sewers of London, placed end to end, would reach from Cincinnati to Los Angeles. A spinster in St. Louis won first prize in a woman's club competition for the best ideas on "How To Make a Husband Happy."
Listening in with his fingers to a special radio set he has made for himself, a man in Rochester, New York, can distinguish the different instruments in an orchestra, although he has not been able to speak or hear since the age of six.

The game of golf has of late years become a source of worry to the makers of submarine cables. These cables are coated with gutta percha, which is the best insulator known, but the demand for gutta percha for golf balls is so enormous that it has permanently put up the price of this commodity.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Semi-automatic rifles are being tried out for infantrymen in the United States army. New arms and new methods will come out of experiments being made by the war department. Despite all the sensational talk about new poison gas, new aeroplanes, the scrapping of battleships and the building of something else, the fact remains that when war comes it will be just like it was before. The doughboys are the boys who will go over the top.

Henry Ford says: "If you have an honorable mission, don't worry over any foreign or home sneery; about dollar-chasing."
The main thing is not the aim people think you have. The main thing is not the effect you produce on others, whether it's cheers or sneers. The big thing is the "mission" that you and perhaps you only know about. If that is worthy, little else matters.

We are not in the habit of turning to Spain and Spanish customs for ideas for the betterment of America. Yet your attention is arrested by the information that in Spain every man and woman who has to work on Sunday must be given an hour off to go to church. It is as important as we pretend to think it is, that is not going too far.

Every man, woman, and child has within him the capacity for making a happier city by making one simple rule for himself. The rule is to make less noise. A marked decrease in noise would decrease the percentages of ill-neers in the population. Night workers, nervous persons, invalids and many others are tortured by noise. Noise is a constant assault against the nervous system. Much of it is useless. Noise is partly the product of carelessness and partly the product of mechanical inefficiency.

If you find you are not popular, look to your sincerity. Lack of sincerity is fatal to both personality and character. In all the arts the behavior that goes to make up charm, there is no substitute for sincerity.

Two young boys were telling about great deeds, when one who was a professor's son spoke up and said his father occupied the chair of applied physics at Cambridge.

"Dats nuttin'," replied the other, "mine occupied the seat of applied electricity at Sing Sing."

Pat was taking Professor Jones down the river in a rowboat.

"Pat," said the professor, "have you ever studied zoology?"
"No," said Pat, "I don't know nothing about it."

"Why, you've missed half your life," was the reply. Then, a little later, "Do you know anything about biology?"
"Nope," grunted Pat.

"Well, you've missed half your life," replied the professor.
Just then the boat hit a snag and upset.

"Help," spluttered the professor.
"Help, professor," yelled Pat. "do ye know anything about swimming?"

"No," gasped the professor.
"When in a few moments you're gonna miss your whole life," cried Pat as he struck out for shore.

"Stop!" cried the porter as the pleasure steamer was about to leave the pier. "There's a party of about seventy coming."

The vessel was backed into the wharf again, ropes were made fast, and three gangways were placed in position. An old lady then climbed slowly aboard.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. MINTRE.

New York, Oct. 19.—Dog stealing has become a highly specialized form of robbery in the metropolis. Hazards are so slight and profits so great many skilled thieves have deserted other branches of their trade.

It is difficult to convict a dog thief. He resorts to the natural instinct of the stolen dog, followed him along the street for some time, then he jumps into his quarters. Judges, however, state them still jolts when evidence convinces them of guilt.

Most fine dogs are stolen in shopping centers or at the public markets. The thieves generally work in pairs. One secures attention of the chauffeur while his companion makes away with the animal. In some instances dogs have been chloroformed in a stupor.

They are easily disposed of for cash in numerous dog stores whose proprietors are not inquisitive enough to ask how the dog was able to slip more than a thousand a week from their spoils.

Many thieves merely hold the dogs and watch "Lost" columns of newspapers. A genuine dog lover is always willing to offer a handsome reward—and no questions asked—for the return of the pet. The police dog is the most difficult to purloin.

He has been trained to obey one master and outside interference will likely result in a vicious attack. A law is being urged to make dog thieves punishable upon conviction with minimum ten-year term. In instances causes anguish almost comparable to kidnapping.

A celebrated actress—and it may or may not be a press yarn—employs a private detective to watch her Fifty-Seventh street apartment to frustrate dog thieves. Her dog has been stolen three times and each time was restored for the $1,000 reward.

It is reported the most promising drama of the year has been built around the life of a midwife. It is considered a tight and accurate proof, but it is essential that a midwife take the stellar role. Two producers have balked at this requisite. They do not think a midwife would appeal to the ladies. Some one should discover a midwife "fixation."

Etiquette of motion picture studios bans smoking by visitors while a scene is being shot. One neglected gentleman recently broke the rule. The star clapped his hands for camera to cease grinding and delivered a stinging rebuke. The cigarette smoker happened to be backer of the picture and the star may not know it but he will shortly be "at liberty."

Indeed, temperament doesn't click any more in any of the amusement arts. A leading lead went babbling hysterically to her dressing room recently and completely upset a rehearsal. The next day she returned this with a dismissal, with the customary two week notice. "We are expressing the same sympathy with your nerves you have expressed with our time and money."

There are few stage stars coddled today. Jobs are too scarce and talented applicants too numerous—and the result has been improvement in acting. No audience cares to see a player lead his or her private emotional life in public. The screen still has a number which must be "babbled"—but from reports it will no be long until that is a memory.

One of the new apartment-house tricks is built-in bar that by the push of a button slides out from the wall in the manner of the old folding bed and is immediately ready for service.

COUNTY CORN CROP IS BELOW AVERAGE

Farm Bureau Service Manager Attributes Reduction to Late Planting

The 1927 corn crop in Marion county will be somewhat below the average in the opinion of Robert L. Leeper, county Farm Bureau service manager. "The absence of killing frosts until late last week has helped the crop considerably but there are many fields in the county that have not been made corn no matter how late the frosts came, according to Leeper. The wet spring this year interfered with the planting season with the result that many fields of corn were planted nearly a month after the usual time, Leeper said. That, he points out, is the reason for the lateness of ripening.

Farmers have taken advantage of the fair weather prevailing during the last few weeks and have nearly half their corn in shock.

SCHOOL CARNIVAL PLANNED AT AGOSTA

Agosta, Oct. 19.—The annual school carnival will be held at the school building, Oct. 28. Each room will conduct a side show or have a booth, while the domestic science department will serve lunch. The principal address will be given by Hugh Diamond, humorous entertainer of Gallion and the high school will contribute numbers.

MARION MASONS TO ATTEND CEREMONIES

Local Lodge Members Plan To Visit Fostoria for Temple Dedication

Several representatives of local Masonic bodies are expected to attend special ceremonies to be held in Fostoria, Sunday, Oct. 23, when the new Masonic temple recently completed there will be dedicated. Senior Grand Warden Otto Hohly of Toledo will have charge of the dedicatory services and the principal address will be given by Judge Charles E. Chittenden. Large delegations of visitors are expected from lodges and commanderies of northwestern Ohio. The program includes a parade scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock.

CHARGE OF FRAUD IS WITHDRAWN IN COURT

Edward S. Moon Makes Satisfactory Settlement of Latourrette-st Property Sale

A charge of fraud under which Edward S. Moon, a local real estate man, was arrested several weeks ago, was withdrawn yesterday and the case dismissed when Moon made satisfactory arrangements with Marianna Giellomardi, who filed the affidavit, for the settlement of the case. The woman charged in her affidavit that Moon had sold her a lot on Latourrette-st representing it to be free of mortgage when it later developed that a mortgage for $1,500 on the lot was held by the Credit Loan & Discount Co.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS HOLD CEREMONIAL MEETING

Prospect, Oct. 19.—Latter Camp of the Campfire girls of Prospect held a ceremonial meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward Leeper, with 10 in attendance. Elizabeth Berry, Helen Swartz and Evelyn Elliault took part in the candle-lighting ceremony, after which Lucilla Northrup sang "Mammy Moon", accompanied on the piano by Lucille Thomas. The group then sang "Burn Fire Burn". After giving their requirements, Evelyn Elliault and Elizabeth Berry took the first rank of a Campfire girl, which is a "wood-gatherer," and 20 honor beads were awarded each one. They were the first of the camp to win this rank. The meeting, closed by giving the benediction. Tea was served by the hostess, Miss Mary Ann Porter, who is also the guardian.

1928 TAGS MUST BE ATTACHED BY JAN. 1

Rule Will Be Rigidly Enforced, Marion Auto Club Informed

The rule requiring automobile owners in Ohio to provide their cars with 1928 license tags on or before Jan. 1 will be rigidly enforced, according to information received at the Marion Auto Club from the state commissioner of motor vehicles.

In the past extensions of time have been granted for use of old license tags after the first of the new year, but state officials have definitely decided that no such program will be followed in 1928. Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the local auto club, stated today. She says that this information came to her officially this week from a representative of the state department.

This report is verified in a statement issued by Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, who has announced that license plates for all motor vehicles will be placed on sale Dec. 1 and that while the 1928 plates may be placed in use on and after Dec. 21, use of the 1927 licenses will not be permitted after midnight of Dec. 31.

FREEMAN BIBLE CLASS HOLDS MEET IN MARION

Prospect, Oct. 19.—About 60 members of the Freeman Bible Class, of the Methodist Sunday School journeyed to Marion Monday night, where they were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kirk on W. Fairground-st, with Mrs. C. J. Cummings, Mrs. W. B. Watkins, Mrs. A. N. Dunbar and Mrs. Frank Hatten as assistant hostesses.

The meeting was in charge of Ben Retterer and opened with a song service and prayer by J. O. Cheney. A short business meeting was held, after which the committee had charge of games and contests. In the spell-down Mrs. Richard Thomas of Marion was the victor and Mrs. A. D. Graham won the automobile race. The house was beautifully decorated with Hallowe'en lanterns and emblems and refreshments of doughnuts, pumpkin pie and coffee were served.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY HOLDS MEETING

Prospect, Oct. 19.—The Christian Endeavor Society of the Reformed Church held its monthly social Monday night at the home of Christ Knickie, with 30 members present. ## REASONS WHY SOME PAVEMENTS FAIL—and how a brick surface prevents that costly failure

... You've seen it happen. A pavement recently laid. Perhaps not yet paid for. But—going to pieces, running up repair costs.

Why did it fail? Perhaps the base was not strong enough. But, more likely, the surface did not provide protection for the base. When that happens, modern traffic is not long in hammering the pavement into premature wreckage.

Paving brick, being vitrified, does not absorb water. Laid on any good base, with a sand cushion, and bound together with asphalt, a brick surface keeps all water out. And, furthermore, has sufficient "give"—resilience—to protect the base from the jolting punishment of heavy traffic.

Brick is the toughest wearing-surface man makes. Also it is level, easy-riding, safe and easy on the eyes. In dollars of cost per year, records prove brick the cheapest of all pavement. In value it is the highest type of paving material known.

"The A. B. C. of Good Paving," a taxpayer's manual, tells in words and pictures how city streets today build over-riding, low cost, brick surfaced roads and streets. Address your request to National Brick Manufacturers Association, 333 South Michigan Boulevard, Chicago.

A WEDDING of interest here was solemnized at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Miss Virginia Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Warner, of Marion, was married to Mr. J. R. Warner, of Marion, by Rev. F. A. Magill, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Newark, read the service before the fireplace in the livingroom, which was transformed into a temporary altar with standards holding candles of white chrysanthemums arranged with palms and other greenery and lighted with white candles held in seven branches.

The wedding music was furnished by Mrs. William L. Griener, who played a group of piano numbers preceding the ceremony.

The bride wore for her wedding a gown of white chiffon over white satin made in a Lantini model with bouffant skirt and fitted bodice, fashioned in silk lace with rhinestones and pearls outlining the design. Her shoulder bouquet was of bride's roses, butterfly roses and lilacs of the valley. She was attended by Miss Thelma Rieck, Columbus, who wore a frock of shell pink chiffon with bouffant skirt and cape, the train of the cape having a band of rhinestones. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of roses shaded in pink. Palmer Merdith, Springfield, was Mr. Warner's best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served the table being centered with pink roses and snapdragons and lighted with unshaded pink candles tied with maline.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner are spending their honeymoon in New York City and upon their return will make their home on Kingwood, Vernon Heights. Mrs. Warner is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and has been employed as a teacher in the Columbus public schools. Mr. Warner is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and a member of Phi Gamma Delta Fraternity. He is associated with the Warner & Edwards Co.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. W. C. Torrence, Columbus, and Miss Thelma Rieck, Columbus, who were a flock of shell pink chiffon with bouffant skirt and cape, the train of the cape having a band of rhinestones. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of roses shaded in pink. Palmer Merdith, Springfield, was Mr. Warner's best man.

GIRLS OF SCHOOL AGE KEEP IN GOOD HEALTH

They Find Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a Dependable Medicine

LOUISE LOUTNAN
ROUTE 2, CHARLESTON, ILLINOIS

From the days of the polio to the days of the radio, mothers have given this dependable medicine to their daughters. School girls are often careless. They get wet feet. They overstudy or they tire themselves with too many dances and parties. They get run down.

Many an active girl of today, like the demure maiden of the 1870's, has found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is helping her to find better health and energy.

"I gave my fifteen-year-old girl

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it did her a wonderful lot of good. She had been out of school for four months. I read the advertisements of the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved and has gone back to school again. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."—Mrs. ALICE LOUTHAN, Route 2, Charleston, Illinois.

"My daughter was out of school two terms. I have known about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all my life and finally decided that she should try it. Three bottles helped her in various ways for the next couple of years."—Mrs. W. E. GILLETTE, 936 E. 62nd Place, Los Angeles, Calif.

"I have always been sickly, and until I was fourteen my father was very strict about my perfect attendance at grammar school. I have gone to school through hard storms and often taken cold. When I was fourteen I took to my bed and did not get up for eighteen months. Everyone thought I could not live. Just four months ago I began taking your wonderful medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I could not get a great change almost at once. Now I feel like a new person. I wish all girls would try Lydia E. Pinkham's wonderful medicine."—Mrs. C. M. SMITH, Union Village, Vermont.

INDIGESTION SPOILS YOUR LIFE

How to End Stomach Troubles

Although indigestion may not be chronic with many people, it is surprising how even slight pains or feelings of fullness after eating spoil much of life's sparkle and happiness. Perhaps you scarcely notice it in the early stages, but remember indigestion never cures itself and usually gets worse. Be on your guard then.

The safest, surest and easiest way to end indigestion, heartburn or flatulence is to take a little "Pape's Diaprepesin" after meals or whenever plain is felt. This quickly stops your discomfort by neutralizing excess stomach acid and preventing fermentation, and at the same time soothes, heals and strengthens your delicate stomach lining.

Get a 60-cent package of "Pape's Diaprepesin" today—every druggist sells and recommends it as a sure remedy for stomach troubles. Don't let indigestion spoil your life—you can't have stomach troubles and "Pape's Diaprepesin" too!—Ad.

Sally's Shoulders

By BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "The Man Who Wasn't There"

CHAPTER XXXI

A knock on Wednesday morning, the telephone rang loudly in the room. Sally dropped the knife she was holding and dashed to it, fearing lest it should disturb her mother, who was still asleep.

"Hello," she said softly, her lips close to the black mouthpiece. "Miss Nye's voice answered her. 'Hello, Miss Nye. How's Millie, and how's the hospital?' she asked, and then was quiet in his tones.

Sally told him that Millie was much better and resting comfortably, according to all reports from Bethlehem hospital.

"Now, then," he said, when she had finished, "Miss Nye tells me that you stayed to do some work for me while Millie was away from the office. Is that right?"

"Yes," breathed Sally, and was ashamed of the wild surge of joy that went through her heart.

"Well—when can you come?" His deep voice stirred her, even at that distance.

"Right away," replied Sally, knowing perfectly well that she still had some sleep to clean, a lunch to get ready for her mother, and herself to dress.

"All right. Thanks very much," John Nye's voice spoke again in her ear. "I'll see you soon, then."

She was still glowing with excitement when she hung up the receiver.

But as she finished her work and got into her street clothes she began to calm down. She began to be very much out of patience with herself because of that glow of excitement and happiness.

"How you were yesterday, promising yourself that you'd never think of John Nye again because Millie's going to marry him," she told the Sally in the mirror above her dresser. "And look at yourself now!"

She was startled—and deeply pink, and there was a smile that lifted the corners of her soft mouth and brought out the dimples in her cheeks. She had that miraculously happy look that a woman has when she is going to meet her lover, and at no other time. A very special kind of look it is.

But the girl who sat at the corner of John Nye's desk an hour later was an altogether different Sally. A quiet, business-like Sally, who kept her thick-lashed eyes on her dictation pad and never once raised them to meet his.

"Minutes of a special meeting of the board of directors of the Nye Development company," his deep voice began, and Sally took the words down on paper with the speed and accuracy of a machine.

Mr. Peerey's fussy hurried dictation had long been a trial to her, but it had made an excellent stenographer of her.

"Going too fast for you?" John asked once, and without raising her head Sally answered him.

"No, Mr. Nye," she said, as meekly as ever she had said, "No, Mr. Peerey." And so they kept it up till noon.

"I'm afraid I'll have to stop now," Sally said gravely, as the deep-toned bells of the cathedral rang out above the din and rush of the down town streets. "I've got to get Mr. Peerey's lunch ready for him."

Nye looked up at her and grinned. "We covered a lot of ground this morning, didn't we?" he asked pleasantly. "I like the way you work."

Without a word Sally left him. That night when she stopped in at Bethlehem hospital to see Millie, she was taken, not to the three-bed room which had been ordered for her, but to a big, bright, private room with a bath that opened from it.

It was filled with flowers—with late roses and early chrysanthemums. Amid their bloom and color and fragrance Millie lay, white as a ghost and without a trace of the made-up beauty that was hers.

"John Nye was here this afternoon," she told Sally with lips that barely moved. "He brought all these flowers, and had me moved into this room and got a special nurse for me. I wouldn't see him, looking the way I do. Bring me my bottle of Chinese black and my lipstick next time you come, will you?"

before her and she was making a list of her excuses for the week on it—so much for groceries, so much for milk, so much for lunches and so much left over for the rent. She was always trying to get together the money for the rent, it seemed to her.

She laid her hand over the paper now and turned to look up at John. Something in his face told her that he had seen the pathetic little list.

"Here's Millie's check," he said. "I'll take it to her myself, but she doesn't seem to want to see me."

Then he cleared his throat and laid a second check before her on the desk. "You've been so good to me—I thought perhaps you'd let me give you this one," he went on, and looking down at it Sally saw that it was made out for $25.

"But I've just done Millie's work, and that's paid for," she was beginning when he stopped her.

"No, no. You've done more work than Millie ever did for me," he said in his nice, quick way, "and yesterday when I was tied up with those men from out of town you brought me that lunch."

"Anyone would have done that," replied Sally, a flush rising to her cheeks and her eyes darkening. "I saw that you weren't going to have time to go out before they came. I won't keep this check."

She stood up and held it out to him. "You've done so much for us now that I'm ashamed whenever I think of it," she said softly, huskily. "Paying for Millie's room and getting a nurse for her when you knew we couldn't afford one—and—all those flowers—and now this!"

She looked at the check again, and suddenly, surprisingly, she began to cry. He stooped and put his arms around her exactly as he might have put his arms around a hurt child, comforting her. He stroked her hair.

In his arms she was very sweet and cool and fresh. She had none of the perfume, none of the cuddling, nestling softness of Millie. She was like an armful of apple-blossoms, picked early in the morning with the dew on them.

And then she pulled herself away from him and, still crying, ran out of the office.

On the floor at his feet lay the check he had given her. It was in two pieces. She had torn it up!

He stood looking at the two bits of pale-blue paper for a full minute. Then he stooped, picked them up, and put them both in his bill-fold.

All day the feeling of Sally in his arms stayed with him. It went with him to the florist's shop, where he bought a quantity of yellow roses to be sent to Millie at the hospital. It followed him to the country club, where he played 18 holes of golf under a sky that was like white and blue.

Chinese cloisonne, and it was still with him when he smoked his bed-time pipe that night.

"I had a funny experience today," he said to his father as they sat side by side before a fragrant wood-fire in the house with the green shutters. And then he went on to tell him about Sally and the check she had torn up.

"There's not one woman in a hundred would have done that," answered his father, who had been hiring and firing people all his life and thought he knew them.

John nudged away at his pipe and laid wonder how soon Millie would be out of the hospital and why she wouldn't see him when he called there. He missed Millie.

Jubilee's Pardner
A Story of Boyhood Adventure
BY JUDD M. LEWIS

Today I let Jubilee down out of the window by the rope in his teeth and went down and emptied the ashes and made the fire and milked and fed the dummed brutes and me and Jubilee and the punch went to school like always, and the teacher was telling us about some gurl swimming the English Channel, and she said the way she done it was by covering herself with axle-grease, and the axle grease was like a suit of clothes that the cold water couldn't get through, so she swum it all right, and I bet when anyone is greasy like that they slide through the water mighty fast too.

I got a box of axle-grease out of our barn, and we were afraid that would not be enough for all of us, so Danty got a can of second-hand grease his father had taken out of their dinner and we went out to the back of the poorhouse and got wicked, and I had first got to the axle-grease because that was mine, and they greased my back for me, and then all the others got greased and oiled, and then we went in and swum acrossed to the slippery slicks, but we didn't slide through the water so very fast, and then we slid down the slippery slicks, and we went down them pretty fast till our milking time so we swum back to where our clothes were at and started to wash the grease off. And when we found it wouldn't come off we had a pretty hard time, and we rubbed ourselves with sand but it didn't help so very much, and then a man came down to the river in a darrer to see if he could drive acrossed it and found out he couldn't and asked us what was the matter, and when we told him he laughed, and he got a can of gasoline out of his darrer and a rag and said for us to wash ourselves and as soon as the grease was off to jump in the river and wash the gas off, so we done it, and thanked him, and he said that was nothing, that he could remember when he didn't have any more sense than we had, and Danty wanted to be polite, so he spoke up and said he was sure that wasn't so very long ago, and the man seemed to think that was funny, for he laughed and slapped his knee, and when I got home it wasn't my knee that my father slapped when he found I was still pretty greasy.

And after supper I got some hot water and soap and took Jubilee and myself out to the barn and scrubbed both of us till it got dark and we didn't have a flea to either of our names. My father can't remember when he didn't have any more sense than a boy—but I can.

BOBBY PLAYS POSSUM
T WAS quite a drop from mother's pocket to the ground, and Peter was afraid that Bobby, as his mother had called him, had tumbled hurt himself.

"Poor little fellow! That was a terrible tumble!" cried he, as he ran forward to pick him up. Bobby, who had been watching the boy out of a corner of his eye, saw Peter coming, and shut his bright eyes as tight as he could and lay as still as a mouse upon the leaves where he had fallen.

Peter felt the soft, furry body all over. But Bobby, who was scared to pieces, never even squeaked.

"No bones broken," declared Peter at last, then he noticed how still the little fellow lay. Peter jumped up and ran to where the mother was swinging by her tail.

"You better drop down from that branch and see what is the matter with your son," cried he. "I must say, you don't act a worried."

"That fall must have knocked the breath right out of Bobby's little body. I don't know whether he is breathing or not. Don't you think you ought to find out? For a mother you care the least what happens to your baby of any mother I ever saw!"

Peter, glaring up at the creature still swinging by its tail from the branch above his head, felt that he would like to shake her from the branch, received another surprise. Mother was laughing at him—there was no doubt about it—and showing nearly every one of her fifty sharp teeth.

"No, I don't think I ought to drop down and find out what has happened to Bobby. For I know without taking all that trouble."

"You know! Then why don't you do something? Aren't you sorry?" Peter was losing his temper. But mother's grin only grew broader.

"Sorry for what? For nothing at all? For nothing at all is just what has happened to Bobby. My little Sonnykins is simply playing Possum, and doing it well—just as he has been trained to do from the day he was born."

"He is afraid of you—you're the first Two-Legs he has ever seen, and he don't quite know what to make of it. Watch him when I give him the safety call!"

"No danger now, ski home," cried Mother, softly, and sure enough, little Bobby sprang to his feet and hurried as fast as his small legs would carry him to mother's side.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON
KATIE REPORTS

I had had my breath left to take. Katie's announcement that the Transylvania vagabonds had been "snooping around" the farmhouse would have been a famous feat successfully. But I already was practically breathless from the excitement of Miss Lavinia's story and my conjectures as to the cause of it, conjectures which Katie's words had just crystallized into conviction. With a feeling that the Mad Hatter was due to put in an appearance soon, I sat down in the nearest chair and stared at my little maid.

"Did you see them?" I asked finally. "Katie bowed her head, I see them with my eyes or hear them with my ears," she returned loftily. "Now you don't hear 'em" see and hear?"

I struggled with my sense of the fitness of things for a second or two, and desecrated bed. Theoretically I disapproved of tales brought from the kitchen, but under the bizarre circumstances surrounding me, I do not believe many women would have refused to hear the story which my nod of acquiescence gave Katie permission to relate.

"Well," Katie began, drawing a long breath and pausing to prepare to enjoy herself to the utmost, "you know we had better porch off kitchen very early and then sit evenings?"

As I personally had supervised the rebuilding of that porch in order that Katie and Jim might enjoy the cool air and privacy of their side of the house that the rest of us did upon the big front veranda, I signified my knowledge with an impatient little nod, and Katie swept on.

"Well, tonight me and Jeem, we hurry out after cooking things and pile up dishes and make everything nice and neat. Den Jeem, he say how head ache and he going to hit bay. But I too tired to go up stairs, and I moosh Jeem. So I say I sit on porch beetle bit and cool off. Maybe I sleep on cot on porch set I feel like cot."

"Well, Jeem he say set I want he big fool and catch my deat' cold. I won't be his funeral, and I tell him don't right, you bet your boots, and den he go out stairs and I turn me out all my lights and I go on porch and I sit me down in chair."

"You see," Katie broke off the thread of her story to explain, "my shoes hurt and I have dem off, and mit lights turned off nobody can hear or see me coming in out on porch. Let anybody watching dey hear up stairs door close and see light switch on in our room, and dey tink I go up mit dem Jeem. You see?"

Again I nodded, and Katie drew closer to me and lowered her voice. "Well, I set dere bout five minutes and den I hear fong noise like somebody coming. First I was scared. Den I say, 'You poor Jeem, don't you know dat cot sleep yet?' Jeem must have tied her close eye tonight. But cot didn't sound like a cow, un den I tink maybe dog go by."

"Den I see something moving along orchard fence, but set so low shadow I not see vedder dog or cow or man, but all over. But something tell me set no dog or cow, and I begin get scared. I shoot getting ready to run in front and call you I heard awful noise like owl hoot, and den a woman called. I jump up and I tink I room front and help, you round house like jack-rabbit running, room man heading for hill, and behind heem Meester Graham as set he hunting dog."

How old are the brides in your town?

GRANDMOTHER was sixteen when she took Grandfather for better or worse! And nobody thought Grandfather was robbing the cradle. In the Fifties all the younger set "stepped off" in their teens.

But the age limit had moved up by the time Mother donned orange blossoms. Mother was twenty.

How old are the brides in your town? How old are the brides in your own circle? None as young as Grandmother was, we'll venture to say. Few as young as Mother.

Men today pick and choose

Men nowadays don't seem to settle down as early as they used to. Perhaps there are too many girls to go round—and the men have learned to pick and choose.

Perhaps it's the high cost of living. Grandmother's ostrich-plumed bonnet that she wore on her wedding trip to Niagara Falls cost all of five dollars. Today a woman's hat costs anywhere from three to five times as much!

Anyway, the Jill of today has to wait longer for Jack to claim her. And you've got to keep your youth and attractiveness longer!

Consequently you've a perfect right to enjoy all the lovely, graceful, luxurious things that accentuate your feminine charm! Chiffon stockings, gay flowers on your shoulder, big floppy hats, perfumes, delicate, delicious, charming, exquisite, foolish things that belong to youth and youthful loveliness. They were made for you as a happy and successful woman!

Camay—so new! Charming!

That is just why Camay has been made for you—and the beauty-loving modern girls like you whose quick approval has made Camay most popular among all white perfumed soaps! You prize subtly refined quality. Camay is made from essences of the world's finest oils.

Rub the white cake between your fingers—see what velvety, creamy lather foams up, even if the water is hard, even if it's cold! Now plunge your hands and face in the buoyant, sparkling bubbles. Feel how sweetly they cleanse. Your skin seems so smooth, so supple and refreshed. And, oh, how very long this lovely white cake of Camay lasts!

Fragrance dewy-sweet

And don't you like Camay's light, elusive perfume? Sweet and fresh as flowers after rain, as the very spirit of Youth!

You'll want to try Camay right away—it's so delightful! If you wish a free cake, simply send your request with your name and address to The Procter & Gamble Co., Dept. J, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Otherwise, look for Camay's dainty wrapper on your grocer's shelf of fine toilet soaps, at your druggist's or your department store, too a cake, a low price for a fragrant soap as exquisite as Camay.

loveliness. They were made for you as a happy and successful woman!

Camay—so new! Charming!

That is just why Camay has been made for you—and the beauty-loving modern girls like you whose quick approval has made Camay most popular among all white perfumed soaps! You prize subtly refined quality. Camay is made from essences of the world's finest oils.

Rub the white cake between your fingers—see what velvety, creamy lather foams up, even if the water is hard, even if it's cold! Now plunge your hands and face in the buoyant, sparkling bubbles. Feel how sweetly they cleanse. Your skin seems so smooth, so supple and refreshed. And, oh, how very long this lovely white cake of Camay lasts!

Fragrance dewy-sweet

And don't you like Camay's light, elusive perfume? Sweet and fresh as flowers after rain, as the very spirit of Youth!

You'll want to try Camay right away—it's so delightful! If you wish a free cake, simply send your request with your name and address to The Procter & Gamble Co., Dept. J, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Otherwise, look for Camay's dainty wrapper on your grocer's shelf of fine toilet soaps, at your druggist's or your department store, too a cake, a low price for a fragrant soap as exquisite as Camay.

There IS no Substitute For—

KIRK'S ORIGINAL COCOA HARDWATER CASTILE

MADE ONLY FROM SELECTED COCONUT OIL

KIRK'S HARDWATER CASTILE

FOR YOUR BATH—A MAGIC SOAP!

Let its 100% pure coconut oil keep your skin smooth, your hands soft, your cheeks aglow with health and beauty.

And how it lathers! Instantly, abundantly, amazingly—like magic, no matter whether the water is hot or cold. Use Kirk's Original Cocoa Hardwater Castile for every cleansing purpose.

Get a cake today. Insist on the original.

JAMES H. KIRK & COMPANY, CHICAGO

Dora can't come!

Today, and every day, a lot of women count the time to suffer. As regularly as the moon comes round, comes pain that is borne in silence. "It's Nature," women say. But it isn't! Women who have always had the hardest time have no pain at all from the day they discover Midol.

Midol is the special preparation of specialists, and is not a narcotic. It does nothing to the menstrual process. It does stop the pain—in five to seven minutes! So it is only common sense to use it. And it costs just fifty cents, at any drugstore in this carrying case of aluminum—Adv.

THROAT THOXINE

Best guaranteed with no previous use

CAMAY—why this sweeping triumph?

Ten makers of Camay have produced far more fine soap than any other soap makers in America. In Camay they offer you a white fragrant soap, a soap so lovely that, wherever it goes, it wins almost instant triumph. How do they make it? From Ceylon from Java, from India, indeed, from every continent except Australia the makers of Camay gather the choicest fats and oils. By delicate processes which they alone thoroughly understand they extract the cream or essence of these oils. These essences cannot be bought—they can only be extracted.

These precious essences they blend to make Camay. With its satin-smooth texture, its camellia-like whiteness, Camay looks its part—the soap Youth has chosen for her very own. A cake far less than you would expect to pay for a fragrant soap so exquisite.

Lopez and Orchestra

WEAF TO BROADCAST PROGRAM

To Be Heard Thursday

Vincent Lopez and his orchestra will broadcast an hour of scintillating tunes through WEAF and the red network beginning at 11 o'clock Thursday night. It will be the first appearance of Lopez and his orchestra before the WEAF microphone since April 14, when he left for a country wide tour. A definite period each week has been assigned the orchestra on the WEAF program, the evening and time to be announced later.

The Coward comfort hour will be broadcast by WEAF and the red network at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night. The program will be entitled "A Night

With The Poets." It will include selections from America's best known composers and will be accompanied by musical settings whose moods will portray the spirit and atmosphere of each poem.

During the "half hour with great composers" Arcadie Birkenholz, well known violinist, will play the "Scottish Fantasia," by Max Bruch. This program will be on from WEAF and the red network at 8 o'clock Thursday night.

A quartet of quartets will play a number of classical selections from WEAF and the red network at 8:30 o'clock Thursday night.

Bill Whipple, rustic character, who resides in Sweet Meadows, a new England village never found on the map, will be back in New York again at 7 o'clock Thursday night to broadcast for 15 minutes through WJZ and the blue network.

LOCAL FAMILY RETURNS FROM COLUMBUS FUNERAL

Mrs. A. W. Gardner, Mrs. Earl Jones, N. Greenwood, and Mrs. D. W. Lett, E. Church, have returned from Columbus, where Monday they attended the funeral of Mrs. Gardner's niece, Mrs. Helen Williams, 27, wife of James Williams. Services were held at 2 o'clock at the Second Baptist Church, followed by interment in Columbus Cemetery. Mrs. Williams died Friday following an operation. She is survived by her husband and two sons, aged 4 and 3 years.

EDDIE STINSON AND PARTY FORCED DOWN

Fliers Uninjured in Descent; Had Been Sought Through-out Night

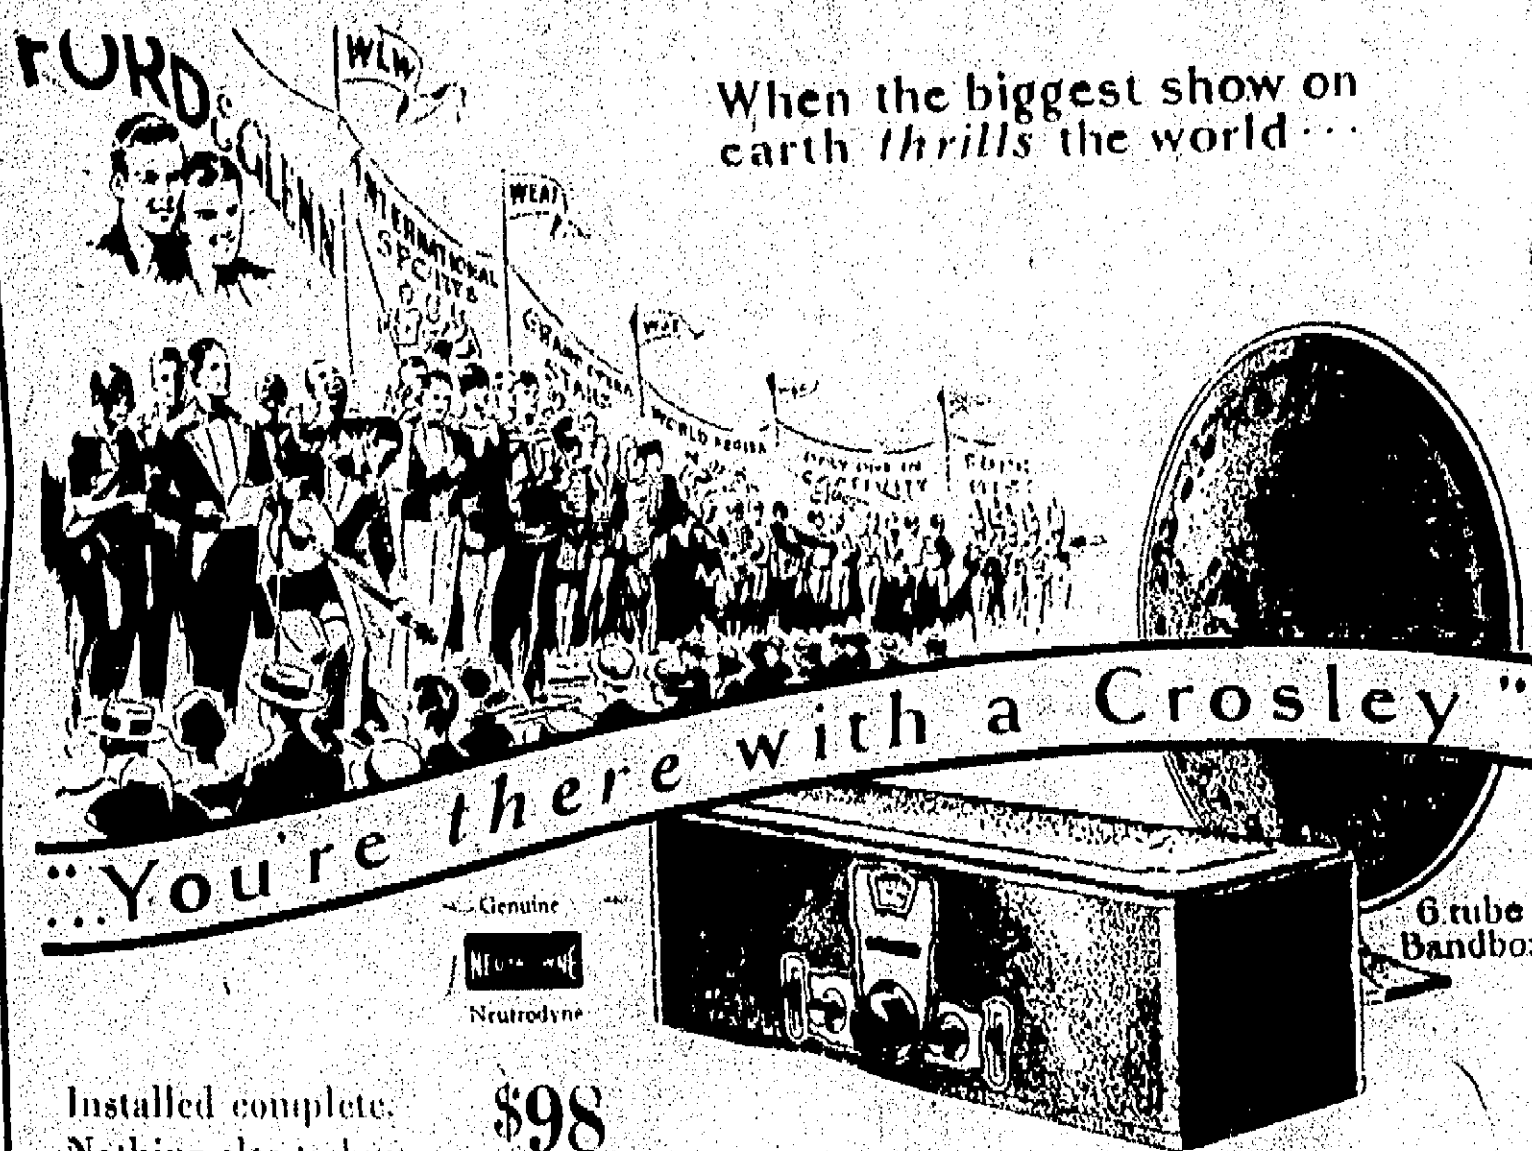

Boston, Oct. 19—Eddie Stinson, Detroit airplane designer reported missing with his wife and four companions in a Stinson-Detroit plane, is safe. The fliers, forced down by fog and rain on a farm near Sherborn, Mass., 10 miles from this city, motored to Boston early today.

No one in the plane was hurt. Stinson and his wife were accompanied by Baron Bayou, Jameshow, a German aviator; J. T. Whitaker, Stinson's mechanic; Philip Ashby and Fred Kohler. The fliers, reported missing in a rain storm over New England, had been hunted throughout the night by police and airport officials throughout this section.

The party disappeared after leaving Hartford, Conn., at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A plane was later reported over two Connecticut towns, and at 5:30 o'clock a plane was heard to police over Natick, just west of Boston. This led local aviation men to believe Stinson had lost his way and might have been forced down.

RAIL SERVICE IS IMPROVED

Betterment Noticeable on All Lines Operating Through Marion, Claim

The general improvement in rail passenger service is noticeable on lines through Marion according to railroad officials here. A revised Erie passenger train schedule recently went into effect on the Kent division and improvement is noticeable in service and equipment of all lines.

According to officials the improvement in passenger service in the last year has been great but as it has been gradual the public does not completely appreciate the extent of the change.

It is well known, railway officials point out, that short haul passenger service suffered a decrease in the number of passengers hauled between 1920 and 1926 due to the increased use of private automobiles and the motor bus. To offset this decrease the railways are developing to a greater extent, through and long distance traffic.

A recent questionnaire, sent to 50 Class I railroads, reveals that 640 in 1926 had train schedules have been accelerated within the past 3 years; that 23 new trains have been placed in service; and that 100 cities now have through Pullman service which they did not have before.

R. A. Mason, Columbus, Hoeking, Pullman supervisor of terminals, spent yesterday in Marion.

Dale L. Hughes, Buckeye agent on the Seaboard railway was in Marion yesterday. Treat is located in Cleveland.

Fred Treat, district passenger agent on the Seaboard railway was in Marion yesterday. Treat is located in Cleveland.

C. B. Smith, auditor for the Union New Co., came to Marion from Columbus yesterday to inspect the stand at the Union depot.

MUSICAL NUMBERS GIVEN AT SERVICE

Members of Larcher Duo on Caledonia Church Program

Caledonia, Oct. 18—A feature of services at the Memorial M. E. Church Sunday night was the musical numbers contributed by Miss Bessie Larcher and Russell Melnis, members of the Larcher Duo, who presented the entertainment in the first number of the Lyceum course given at the school auditorium Friday night. Mr. Melnis presided at the organ for a group of numbers and also for the musical setting to "Ninety and Nine" recited by Miss Larcher. An inspiring message "What is Your Life?" was given by the pastor, Rev. F. S. Fancher. Miss Alma Lyons led the Epworth League services preceding the worship hour. The subject discussed was "My Crowd Seeing Christ Through Me." William Clark will lead next Sunday night's League services.

"Conditions of Answered Prayer" the third of a series of sermons on prayer, was the topic of Rev. R. E. Stevens' morning sermon at the Christian Church. A male quartet composed of C. D. Leitch and son, Alvin of Ashland and Charles Likens and Rev. Stevens furnished two special numbers. The night sermon was the close of a series of sermons on Jonah. Announcement was made that the Christian Endeavor Society would hold a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dowers near Beech Wednesday night. Members will meet at the church for conveyances.

Cambridge, Oct. 19—Plans were being made here today for funerals for five persons who were killed late yesterday when a Pennsylvania passenger train crashed into an automobile at Brysville, five miles south of here.

It is probable that a joint funeral service will be held for Russell Cox, 33, cashier of Brysville State Bank, and four children, the other victims. Those killed, besides Cox, were Ralph Cox, 7, his son; William Gooden, 8; Ralph Kostelicki, 7, and Robert Breeden, 7.

Cox had gone to the Brysville school in his car to bring his little son home and picked up the other children, schoolmates of the Cox child. Rain on the windshield of his car is believed to have caused him to fall to see the approaching train at the open crossing, and the car was struck squarely in the middle.

Stephen Gould, 9, the only occupant of the car who was not killed, was in a critical condition in a hospital today, but was believed to have a chance of recovery.

Why Chevrolet Performance is Thrilling Millions!

Never before was a low-priced car so delightful to drive as today's Chevrolet!

Fast get-away... easy, smooth operation... high speed roadability... unflinching power... and flashy acceleration——exactly the type of performance that everyone wants in an automobile today!

And the source of this matchless performance is the Chevrolet valve-in-head motor; a motor that has established a world-wide reputation for its remarkable power, dependability and economy.

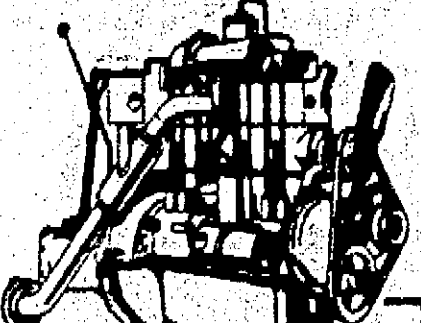

In addition, there is all the finger-tip steering, all the positive braking and effortless gear shifting that have made Chevrolet so decidedly popular for congested traffic.

And never before was a low-priced car so comfortable—for Chevrolet car springs are 88% as long as the wheel base... and built of chrome vanadium steel!

Come in! Learn what a feeling of confidence it gives you to drive a car that is powered for every need... that is smooth and quiet at every speed... that responds to the slightest pressure on the steering wheel.

Then you'll know why millions have acclaimed today's Chevrolet as the finest performer in the low-price field!

The Chevrolet valve-in-head motor new possesses much modern improvement such as AC air cleaner, AC oil filter, improved oil pump, chrome plated piston pins and valves, timing, lighting and ignition—features that make this remarkable power plant even more efficient than ever before.

AUTO TAGS TO BE BLUE, WHITE

Same Color Arrangement Will Be Used by Connecticut, Georgia, Nebraska

A dark blue background with letters and figures in white, will be the color of the license plates to be used by Ohio motorists next year, it was announced today by Mrs. D. V. Gallagher, secretary of the Marion Auto Club.

Other states, Connecticut, Georgia and Nebraska. Three additional states will use the same color scheme except that the plate will be of a lighter blue. Louisiana for cars over 25 horse power, Maryland and New Jersey make up the three.

The most unusual plate will be that used by the motorists of the state of Idaho. On a background of vine green the plate will bear an embossed Idaho potato in brown which will in turn carry the letters and numbers in green.

White, Black Tags

Three states will use a white plate with letters in black, they are Delaware, Iowa, Oregon and automobiles in the Philippine Islands will bear license plates of the same colors. License plates with a background of black and white letters will be used by motorists in four states, Mississippi, North Dakota, Rhode Island and Tennessee.

Black letters and figures on a background of deep orange will be the color scheme of plates to be used by motorists in Alabama, Arkansas and Washington. A maroon colored plate with letters and figures of white has been selected as the colors for plates in Illinois and Indiana while plates of green with letters of white has been selected by the following states: Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, North Carolina and West Virginia.

Honolulu Plates

Letters and figures of dark blue on plates of white will adorn the cars of motorists in Kansas and Maine. Honolulu car owners will sport a license plate of black background with letters and figures in deep orange while Virginia and Wisconsin drivers will have plates of the same color backgrounds with letters and figures in white.

Gold and turquoise blue also will be used by motorists in New Mexico while Pennsylvania motorists will sport license plates of gold with letters and figures in blue.

Arizona Tags

A copper colored plate with figures of vermilion red will be used by Arizona motorists. Colorado will have plates of French grey with letters of maroon. The District of Columbia has selected chrome yellow plates with black figures while Florida will use plates of maroon and letters of deep orange. Louisiana has selected for cars under 25 horse power, plates of cream with letters of dark blue.

Missouri motorists will use plates of orange with letters and figures of dark blue. Montana motorists will carry plates of bronze with letters of dark blue. The license plate of Nevada will be Tabloidian vermilion red with letters of white, while New York motorists will have cars with license plates of black with goldenrod yellow numbers.

Yellow Plates

Yellow plates with letters in black will be used by Oklahoma motorists and South Carolina has selected plates of black with letters in gold. The license plates of South Dakota will be medium red with letters in white.

A dark brown plate with letters of white will adorn the cars of Texas motorists while those from Utah will use plates of federal yellow with numbers of black. Green and gold will be the color of the plates on Vermont cars, a gold background will bear letters of white.

Western Union line with letters of yellow. Alaska motorists will use plates of canary yellow with letters in red and those in Porto Rico will use plates of gray with letters in violet.

Sideline Sallies

By TOM BUCHANAN

THE statement, "A good day for ducks isn't necessarily a war crack about the weather this time of year. As the sky becomes overcast with lead like clouds and the air acquires a tinge of frost the feathered denizens of the northern lakes begin to make preparations to travel southward. And before long one can expect to see the familiar V formation of the flying geese and the long string of the wild duck streaking across the sky.

Ducks and geese are flying late this fall hunters say. The warm weather that has prevailed until the last day or so is given as the reason for the late migrating. But with typical late fall weather and perhaps a little snow in prospect hunters are unquenching their gauges and pointing up the old decoys. The season for these game fowl opened Sept. 10 but those who planned to hunt them on that date were disappointed.

Quite a few Marion nincoms brave the cold, wet mornings for a chance at some shooting that ranks with the best to be had in America—that is, duck and goose shooting. The rice swamps to the north and Indian lake harbor large numbers of the fowl during the migrating season and not a few rural residents southward that they have been detailed to guard the dinner table of some Marion sportsman.

The limit on ducks, geese and gallinules is 25 in the aggregate of all kinds in any one day, and not more than eight geese or brant in total. Shooting is permitted every day of the week except Sunday, from one half hour before sunrise until sunset. Wood ducks are protected. The season will close Dec. 31.

Every hunter must have a license.

RINNERT STICKS

Marion Athlete Survives First Cut in Bishop Freshman Squad

Joe Rinnert, Marion, is one of the survivors of the first cut in the Ohio Wesleyan freshman grid squad this week according to word from the Delaware school.

Rinnert is after a tackle berth on the yearling squad of Bishop graders.

Before going to Ohio Wesleyan Rinnert starred on the Harding High School football and basketball teams. He is a six footer and this fall is tipping the beam at 180 pounds.

We can all be "ideal builders" even if we can't carry the load we can help to fill it.

State Mentor Will Send Three Running Backfield Men Against Wolverines

Eby Only Back Sure of Starting; Captain Meyer Replaced at Guard by Bill Young; Ackerman Goes In at Right End

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19.—A drastic reshaping of the lineup of the Ohio State football team, when it takes the field against the Wolverines at Ann Arbor next Saturday afternoon, is in prospect, according to all indications today.

Three running backs will be included in the starting lineup, if present plans of Coach Jack Wilce are carried out, marking a departure from Wilce's well-known system of one runner, one line plunger and two blocking backs.

Eby Only Sure Starter

In practice sessions this week, as an aftermath of the Northwestern disaster last Saturday, Wilce has been using Fredrick Grim at quarterback, Marek and Houston at halfbacks, and Eby at fullback. Grim, Marek and Houston formerly were used at the running back positions. Byron Eby, The Chilliote star, is scheduled to be in the starting line-up against Michigan, but the other backfield positions are in doubt.

Wilce has evidenced displeasure at the showing made by his line in the Northwestern tilt, and many substitutes have been appearing in the regular line positions at the practice sessions. Bill Young relieved Captain Meyer at guard, Schmidt replaced Eby at center, Nessee substituted for Urdill at tackle, and Ackerman relieved Deh Rowan at right end.

Squad in Good Shape

The entire squad is in good shape so far as injuries are concerned, despite the tough going against Northwestern, and the team will be in the best condition of the season physically against Michigan, barring accidents meanwhile.

10,000 OHIO FANS TO SEE GAME

Columbus, O., Oct. 19.—Six special trains will carry many of the 10,000 Columbus football fans who are expected to attend the annual Ohio-Michigan game at Michigan's stadium in Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon. The New York Central and Rock Island Valley roads will operate the specials, leaving Union station here at five minutes intervals after 7 o'clock Saturday morning. Each train will carry about ten coaches.

Nearly 10,000 Columbus fans already have made stadium reservations through Henry Taylor, in charge of ticket sales at the University. Thirty-five hundred of these ticket sales were made to students.

PITT HAS EDGE OVER TARTANS IN ANNUAL GRID GAME SATURDAY

Carnegie's Poor Showing Doesn't Give Them Chance To Win, Dopesters Say

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—Unless the Carnegie Tartans show a reversal of form in contrast to their work last Saturday against Washington and Jefferson they are due to take another licking next Saturday when they invade the lair of the Pitt Panthers here.

Although Coach Steffen's men went into the game against the Presidents "doped" to lose, the 20 to 6 trimming handed them by Andy Kerr's eleven came as a crushing disappointment to Pitt followers. The Carnegie defense, which has been considered its strongest element, crumbled like tissue paper at times against the rushes of the Red and Black backs.

Assistant Coach Bob Waddell will spend the current week in bolstering as far as possible some of the weak spots that were revealed Saturday.

According to the experts, Pitt will be a top heavy favorite to regain the city championship after a gap of a year. Pitt's great record, including its decisive wins over West Virginia and Drake, does not allow Carnegie even an outside chance on paper to hold the championship for another 12 months. Followers of the game in Pittsburgh, however, have been educated to the point where the "dope" concerning Pitt-Carnegie games doesn't mean a thing. In the last four years, since relations were resumed between the two rivals, Carnegie has entered the game the "underdog" and in three of those four years the Tartans have won.

Whether the Carnegie mentors will make any radical changes in the make-up of the team when they take the field against Pitt is unknown as yet. Cooper, who injured his shoulder in the Drexel game, may possibly be able to play, and if he does Carnegie will be a much stronger outfit than in the game with W. and J.

OHIO GRIDS

MARIETTA—Shifts in the lineup to correct weaknesses revealed in the game with Ohio University last week, probably will be made by Marietta coaches for the University of Cincinnati game. Lincoln Schmidt heretofore a sub, has probably won a regular berth at end by his fine performance, substituting for Lattimer. Joe Porter, guard, also will probably be shifted to tackle position on defense.

Oberlin—Oberlin Varsity grid-ders settled down today to hard work in anticipation of the Miami game at Oxford this week, regarded as one of the most important on the schedule of either team. Oberlin suffered no injuries in the Reserve game, and the line is reported at the height of its form. Freshmen team was running Miami offensive plays today.

Oxford—A forty-minute daily scrimmage is the program that Coach Pittier is putting the Miami squad through this week for the Oberlin game. Facing a 10-round handicap in weight, Pittier was concentrating on a line defense. Stryker, star fullback, is taking a rest due to an injured knee, but expects to start Saturday. The Saturday game will be "Homecoming Day" at Oxford, and hundreds of alumni will see the game.

Cincinnati—St. Xavier Musketiers today were working in deadly earnest, preparing for the invasion of the strong Oglethorpe University squad from Atlanta next Saturday. The game is regarded by Coach Meyer as one of the high spots of the Catholic schedule, and the best that Xavier can muster will be sent against the Baptist collegians.

Cincinnati—Elated over their wonderful defense against the strong Dayton squad last Saturday, Cincinnati University's grid-ders today were working hard in preparation for the Marietta game this weekend. Only 12 men were used by Coach Babcock in the Dayton game, and there were no serious injuries. Pete Waldman, Dick Dial and Sgt. Kuntz, who have been on the injured list, expect to be in condition to start against Marietta.

Tiffin—Coach Sayer and Edler are stiffening the weak half of Heidelberg's line revealed in the Wooster game, to meet Ohio Northern's attack Saturday at Ada. The same lineup that started against Wooster will appear again. It was indicated today. An air attack will be featured.

Athens—With "Pete" McKinley, star halfback, definitely out of the lineup with a serious shoulder injury, Ohio University coaches were devising a new attack built around Robeson, rated one of the best forward passers on the squad.

Springfield—Harold Christler, Wapakoneta guard, who has been starting with Mittenberg this season, will be unavailable when the Lutherans clash with Ohio at Athens Saturday. He stepped on a rusty nail, and has been given anti-tetanus serum.

Delaware—With Tiffin and Abbey, veteran tackles who have been laid out by injuries back in the lineup, Wesleyan's prospects are the brightest of the season today. The Bishops will send their full strength against the Denison team at Granville Saturday, Coach Gauthier says.

Wooster—Coach L. C. Boles today was giving the Wooster squad special drill against the freshmen using Case offensive plays in preparation for the homecoming game with Case Saturday. Wooster may enter the game without the services of Young and Salter, but

AFTER THE TUMULT AND SHOUTING

Post, who has been out with an injured knee, probably will be available.

Kenyon—The Kenyon squad today was hard at work in preparation for the Saturday clash with Western Reserve. Despite the drubbing the team received at Rochester, no serious injuries were reported. Cunningham probably will be able to start at tackle, having recovered from illness.

Hiram—Coach Pritchard was drilling his athletes this week on offensive tactics in preparation for the trip to Columbus this week end to tackle Capital. Barr, quarterback, and Stefan, at tackle, are recovering from injuries and may start the Capital game.

Grid Teams Coached by Miracle Men of East Clash At Syracuse Saturday

Penn State Hopes To Cross Syracuse Goal Line for First Time in History; Cadets To Go to New Haven

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Football teams coached by the "two miracle men of the east" will clash next Saturday at Syracuse, N. Y., when the Lake City eleven entertains Penn State's Nittany Lions.

Hugo Bezdek, Penn State pilot, and Lew Anderson, the Syracuse coach, accounted for last week's two outstanding upsets in eastern football by guiding their charges to victory over Pennsylvania and Georgetown, respectively. Saturday's game will be a battle of wits between a veteran mentor and a kid coach. Bezdek, a former big league baseball manager, has been developing football teams for many years while Anderson, only a few years out of college, has led his team to four straight victories in his first season as head coach.

Will Be Aerial Battle

The game probably will be an aerial battle, as both teams employ the pass extensively. Captain Johnny Roesch of Penn State, whose daring cross of a fifty-yard pass from behind his own goal line took the starch out of Penn, is confident that the Pennsylvania Dutchmen will cross the Syracuse goal line for the first time in history.

Both teams got hard workouts in the rain yesterday. Rain has handicapped Eastern teams all week, but the Cornell squad fooled Jupiter Pluvius yesterday by working out in the baseball cage.

Gil Dobie fears Princeton's forward passes and is attempting to correct his team's weakness against this method of attack.

Injuries have forced the Penn coaches to revise their backfield for the Chicago game. The present combination consists of Ratowsky at quarter, Wascoloni at full, and Murphy and Forbes at the halves.

Cadets on Trip

A corps of 1,250 cadets will go to New Haven on Saturday when the Army Mule and the Yale Bulldog come to grips. Coach "Biff" Jones of the Army is concentrating on his second string ball carriers. Yale has made a new star in Johnny Garvey, who made two touchdowns against the scrubs. The Elis will hold their first hard practice of the week today.

Guarnaccia, Harvard star, has been unable to play against Dartmouth. Although the Big Green team has averaged 41 points a game this season, it is getting its first tough opponent. Harvard and is far from overconfident. Duke Shauzhenessy, Colgate star, back in uniform and will play against Wabash.

KID KAPLAN KAYOED BY FRISCO FLASH

Jimmy McLarnin Looks Forward to Fight with Sammy Mandell

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Jimmy McLarnin, the California lightweight, was just proud of himself today as he counted his money and reflected on the possibility of a championship match with Sammy Mandell.

For it was McLarnin "Young Big Face" himself, who last night surprised some 6,000 fight fans at Joe Muller's coliseum show by knocking out the highly-touted Louis "Kid" Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., in the eighth round of their scheduled ten-round bout. And it was a knockout, clean as a whistle.

This native son, who reversed to solar system by rising in the west and traveling eastward, was fighting his first fight outside the boundaries of his native California. His meteor-like rise bids fair to carry him far.

Sound Sleep-

its importance to your success

Now over a million men enjoy instant, all-night sleep that brings energetic, wide-awake days... by using this new Swiss food-drink

We offer you a 3-day test

Ambition. Mental alertness. The power of concentration. The energy to accomplish big things. All these qualities, which are in the make-up of every successful man, are largely the reward of sound, restoring sleep.

And now modern science has found a natural way to instant, restful sleep that restores your tired mind and body—without drugs!

Drugs, as you know, do not give you natural, restful sleep. Even the nonhabit-forming narcotics leave you "lousy" and befuddled when you awake.

That is why doctors everywhere now recommend Ovaltine. Ovaltine is a pure food-beverage that puts you to sleep without drugs. And as you sleep, its special food properties act like a tonic on your system. You don't wake up feeling "lousy."

Morning finds you a new man. Fresh, clear-eyed, buoyant. You have the energy to carry you right through the day and into the evening.

The 3-day test we offer here will prove all we say. Note particularly how good you feel when you get up in the morning.

Why Ovaltine brings restoring sleep

First—It digests very quickly. Even in cases of impaired digestion.

Second—It supplies your system with certain health-building essentials which are often missing from your daily fare. One cup of Ovaltine has actually more food value than 12 cups of beef extract.

OVALTINE

Builds Body, Brain and Nerves

The first night I took Ovaltine I fell asleep quickly and slept better than for months past. Ovaltine is wonderfully soothing and it is also a very pleasant beverage.

A. L. MULHOLLAND, Albany, N. Y.

I had not had real restful sleep in over five years. Since taking Ovaltine I sleep better and have more ambition to work. It makes sleep come naturally.

How Many Homers Could Babe Pole Out If There Were No Southpaws?

BY FRANK G. MENKE

The whole world suddenly was depopulated of left handed ball twisters. There's no estimating how many four-batters the irrepressible G. Herman Ruth could pole out of ball parks.

But there are southpaws, and southpaws will insist upon trying to discomfit G. Herman. As a result, G. Herman gets those obstacle things thrust into his pathway and has to be content with a little short of a few million from base smacks.

Facts and figures for 1927 show that of the world's record assortment of 60 homers which Ruth poles forth, 37 were connected from offerings of right handed sluggers, while Ruth was able to make only 23 off the port side ball batters.

Any mention of Ruth is mention of a super-ball player; it is breathing the name of ball-dom's most colorful character, its most terrible hitter and the individual who has successfully defied the laws of gravity, the laws of age, the laws of avoidance and 87 other volumes of laws.

Back in 1921, when Ruth was 27, in the prime of his youth, and when there wasn't an ounce of extra bulk on his frame, he whanged forth 59 four batters.

Six years later, at the age of 33, when pitchers were supposed to know his weakness, when age was supposed to have dimmed the brilliance of his batting eye, and when years of being indulgent with himself presumably had softened him, he clouted forth 60 home runs and left behind him a record that seems likely to endure forever.

Ruth has cracked out 416 homers since he climbed into a big league uniform in 1915—a mere 416 batters in 13 years, or an average of 32 per season. But seven of his seasons have been abbreviated.

If from the beginning of things, Ruth had been playing the full schedule of 154 games then his mark today might be in the neighborhood of 575 instead of a mere 416.

From 1915 until 1918 Ruth served mainly as a pitcher, punch hitter and utility outfielder. As a result, in 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918 he participated in only 32, 37, 52 and 96 games respectively, making a grand total of 236 games for four years, as against the full schedule of 161 games.

And in 1919 he was in only 136 while he played but 142 in 1920, only 110 in 1922 and only 98 in 1923.

So, of the 13 years Ruth has been in the majors, he has really played only six full and complete seasons.

If he had played the entire 154 games in 1915, 1916, 1917, 1918, 1920, 1922 and 1925 he would have figured in 482 more games than now are written into his record. Inasmuch as Ruth has averaged one home in about every three games of his lifetime, then, given a chance in 482 more games through the 13 years, his total would be around 575 homers instead of the record mark of 416 of today.

But what does it matter, this hypothetical figure of 575. He possesses 410 today, as the result of 13 years of activity—the greatest number any human ever whanged forth in a lifetime and a mark that will stand up just about as staunchly against the onslaught of the years as would 575 or 1075 or 2000.

The Old Days of Unbeaten and Unscored On Elevens Seems to be Gone Forever

Only Five Major Teams in Country That Have Been Scored on This Season; Open Game Is Credited With Change

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—What has become of the unbeaten and unscored on elevens that used to be so gloriously in the old days of mass play and heavy casualties?

With the season half finished back in the trail-blazing days of 1905 and thereabouts, when the football world was divided into two very clearly defined strata, mid-season found a host of unbeaten and unscored on elevens. Yale, Harvard and Princeton invariably were on the top of the heap with such other teams as Pennsylvania, Dartmouth, Cornell, Michigan, Chicago, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois holding forth in the same class over the admittedly inferior teams.

Look At Them Now

But nowadays and especially in this year of grace of 1927 the middle of the season finds the number of unbeaten and unscored on elevens a very limited field indeed, even though the whole country be scored. To be more exact the names of the elect at the present writing are Michigan, Princeton and Pittsburgh, while Louisiana State and Geneva, the eleven coached by "Bo" McMillan may also be grouped in this class though each has participated in a 0-0 tie game. What a meager list this is compared with the so-called good old days!

Pittsburgh tops the list with a total of 155 points in four games while Princeton has scored 60 points in three games and Louisiana 68 in the same number. Louisiana State has run up 106 in four games and Geneva 54 in a like number. Pittsburgh's big achievement was its 40 to 0 victory over West Virginia, a triumph that stamps it as one of the best if not the best eleven in the east.

The number of unbeaten elevens is considerably larger than the select unbeaten and unscored on handful. In this latter grouping are Army, Cornell, Dartmouth, New York University, Bucknell, Lafayette, Maine, N. Y. Aggies, Rochester, Springfield, Syracuse, W. & J., Tufts and Williams in the East; Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Catholic University in the South; Northwestern, Illinois, Missouri, Notre Dame, Oberlin, Missouri and the Haskell Indians in the middle-west, and California, University of Washington and Southern California on the Pacific Coast. Illinois, Bucknell, Minnesota and Southern California have each been tied.

Open Game Responsible

In the old days it was no unusual feat for Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania and one or two others in the east to come down to their big games at the very end of the season with unscuffed goal lines, and Yale had a faculty of going through season after season without being scored upon, especially in the early 1900s when the blue was riding roughshod over all comers including Harvard and Princeton.

But what a difference there is today! It is not at all within the realm of the probable that any eleven will go through the season without being scored upon, thanks to the open game, and there is every assurance that the number of unbeaten elevens at the end of the season will not be more than three or four in number. Boston College, Brown, Navy and Lafayette were the only unbeaten teams in the east last year and of the quietest Lafayette was the only one that has escaped without a drubbing this season.

There is bound to be some mortality among the unbeaten contingent over the coming week-end. For one thing either Cornell or Princeton probably will know what defeat means by Saturday night. Lafayette and W. & J. are likewise to face each other and it is not at all likely that they will play to a tie score. Williams, Syracuse, Dartmouth and the Army in the east will all be playing with fire when they tackle Columbia, Penn State, Harvard and Yale, respectively.

In the west, Northwestern runs into danger in facing Illinois, and Michigan may have lots of trouble with Ohio State, despite the latter's defeat by Northwestern. Likewise on the Pacific coast, California and Southern California meet in the game that probably will ruin one or the other's unbeaten record and Washington may also have difficulty with Washington State.

The old days apparently have gone forever in football.

BIG TEN GRID GLEANINGS

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 19.—Coach Bob Zuppke today continued his search for linemen to replace two regulars in the Illinois forward wall who were injured in the game with Iowa State.

Bill McClure, second string man, was fitting himself for the position held by Crane. Night scrimmage sessions are held under the powerful arch lights for the clash with Northwestern Saturday.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 19.—Coach Wilce of Ohio State has altered his offensive system to a three man running backfield. Grim, March and Huston ran the ends and tackles while

MICKEY WALKER TO MEET M'TIGUE

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Promoter Jim Mullen announced today he had signed Mickey Walker, midweight champion of the world, and Mike McTigue, former light heavyweight champion, for a ten round bout November 1.

Observer charged the center of the line. Heretofore Wilce has relied on a two man running backfield. The variety scrimmage lasted for an hour on defensive plans for the Michigan game.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 19.—Herman Boots, a rangy 185 pounder, was being groomed today for Leon Hutton's place at end on the Purdue varsity. Hutton's ankle, it was learned, has not responded to treatment and Boots is a probable starter in the game against Wisconsin.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 19.—With the fresh aggregation using Gopher plays, the Iowa varsity today battered the first year men in preparation for the tilt with Minnesota. More time was spent with the kickers in the hopes that a dependable booter can be developed before Saturday. For the three games thus far played, the Hawkeyes have averaged but 34 yards on punts.

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 19.—Coach Glen Thielthwaitte has moved Glen Hayes, former Mooseheart star, from the second team backfield to half-back position on the Wisconsin first eleven. This change, it was believed, would speed up the Badger offense.

RICHWOOD TO PLAY MECHANICSBURG 11

Union County Outfit Preparing for Hard Game Friday

Richwood, Oct. 19.—After Monday's rest, Coach Schmiedel started Tuesday to get the Richwood High School football team in shape for the Mechanicsburg game to be played at Mechanicsburg, Friday afternoon.

It is reported that Mechanicsburg will outclass the Richwood team almost 200 pounds on the average. It is sure that they will offer much more opposition than the Forest outfit, which Richwood downed 44-0 last Friday.

Although Richwood handed Mechanicsburg a complete drubbing last year they cannot be considered as underdogs this season as they have won the majority of their games, among the best being the strong Urbana High team.

The Richwood backfield will be severely crippled by the loss of Cramer, star halfback, who was declared ineligible in one of his studies Monday. Reece, 160 lb. end, will probably fill the vacancy and Trever will receive the call at end.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—Herb Joesting is the only veteran in the Minnesota backfield today who is sure of his job. In yesterday's scrimmage, Coach Spears tried three new combinations around Joesting. Havercraft, on end, too ill to play in the Indiana game last week, was back at his berth, none the worse from his layoff.

ANN ARBOR, Oct. 19.—Michigan coaches are devoting the major part of practice sessions to the development of a defensive against the Ohio State open attack. Long passes are the Buckeyes' specialty. The team that defeated Wisconsin will probably start against State.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—Coach Abner Stog's crippled University of Chicago eleven went through its paces today, perfecting shifts designed to battle Pennsylvania in the intercollegiate tilt here Saturday. Blum, quarterback, Proudfoot, tackle, and Libby, utility lineman, are still on the injured list. It is doubtful if any of the three get into action against Penn.

EVANSTON, Oct. 19.—Northwestern Purple Marauders, practically unmarked from their successful struggle with Ohio State, have gained team confidence that will stand them in good stead when they go up against Illinois here this week-end. Noble Fraser, star end, last night sprained a wrist in a scrimmage, but it was said his injuries are not serious enough to keep him out of the Huron Saturday.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 19.—Two capable performers, Hull and Matthews, were back in the Indiana lineup today. Coach Pace is centering attention this week in trying to correct mistakes in the line, in preparation for the game Saturday with Notre Dame. Several Huskies' still show marks sustained in the tussle with Minnesota.

ONLY TWO N. C. O. LEAGUE GAMES ON CARD FOR SATURDAY

Red and Black, with Open Date This Week, Takes Good Rest

With an open date Saturday the Red and Black gridlers are taking it easy this week. Until next Monday there will be just enough exercise to keep the players limbered up.

With the coming of the new week, however, Coach Bohrer plans to start intensive training for the Bucyrus clash on the fairground field. Bucyrus is busy this week preparing for the game with Ashland next Saturday. The game is to be played at Bucyrus and will be the first home game for Winter's team.

During the last four days the Bucyrus squad has been recovering from some minor ailments and expects to be in fine shape for the clash with the Black and Orange.

One other North Central Ohio League game is scheduled for Saturday. That is Gallon at Shelby. Although Shelby has a green field this year as a result of spring production the team has a pair of flashy backs in Kennedy and Ruel. Both were consistent grid players against Upper Sandusky last Saturday. Kennedy on occasions elicited off runs for as high as 20 yards.

Rabbit Foot To Be Trophy In Big Red-Bishop Games

Delaware, Oct. 19.—A rabbit's foot is to serve as the annual trophy for which the football teams of Ohio Wesleyan University and Denison University will battle each year.

The story of this rabbit's foot for which the two teams will contend the first time at Granville, Saturday, Oct. 27, goes a long way back in football history.

The Red Leading

Walter Livingston, now athletic director of Denison, was captain of the Denison eleven in 1905. His team was leading Ohio Wesleyan 4 to 0 at the end of the first half. As the second half progressed, Branch Ricker, now of the St. Louis Cardinals, who was the Ohio Wesleyan coach, was despairing of turning the tide in Wesleyan's favor. Denison students were already doing their snake dance of victory.

Suddenly Captain Livingston lost his head gear, and a rabbit's foot tied with Ohio Wesleyan's colors dropped out of it. An Ohio Wesleyan player dived for the rabbit's foot and recovered it. Livingston pleaded for his rabbit's foot, but the opposing player refused to return it.

"Here's where we get the breaks of the game, gung," he yelled, waving the good luck token in front of the Ohio Wesleyan players.

Yet some smokers hold back. They can't quite believe in any cigar selling at 5c, no matter how well it's established. If you're an unbeliever you're standing in your own light. Ask for "Havana Ribbon" and produce a nickel. Then, put on the work with that cigar. Smoke it fast or slowly. Notice its aroma, mildness, sweetness. Notice how it satisfies you without leaving you fed up. You'll bank on Havana Ribbon from then on.

U. S. Navy Band Director Recalls Events When Hardings Occupied White House

USING the same scores and playing for the first time since the death of President and Mrs. Harding their favorite numbers, members of the Navy Band included in their two concerts yesterday afternoon and evening "La Paloma" and "A Perfect Day," in honor of their memory. These numbers were included, always at the special request of President and Mrs. Harding, in every program played for them by the band. The last time they were played was in Seattle, Washington, when members of the band accompanied the presidential party on the Alaskan tour.

The band's visit to Marion yesterday was in the nature of a pilgrimage to the shrine of its godfather and interesting reminiscences were touchingly recalled by Lieut. Charles Deater, director, and members of the band during their visit here. To President Harding, Lieut. Deater was "Charlie," and to Mrs. Harding he was "Mr. De-ater." Announcement of a trip on the Mayflower was always welcome news to members of the band and in recalling some of the pleasant memories of these times, Mr. Courtney, assistant director, told of their first trip with the president when he received each of them personally when he came aboard and then requested that the band play for him. "This is only one of the many seemingly little things which made everybody love the president," he said. Lieut. Deater and members of the band also recalled a number of pleasant associations with the late Brigadier General C. E. Sawyer and Mrs. Sawyer, whom they regarded as their warmest friends and supporters.

To Lieut. Deater goes the credit of the Navy Band's enviable place in band circles today, and although comparatively young it ranks as one of the best musical organizations in the United States. The band was first organized in 1910 on the battleship Kansas and in 1917 was increased to membership of 100 men. It was officially recognized as the Navy Band in 1919 through a special act of congress.

Lieutenant Deater, who is the only bandman in the navy holding the commission of lieutenant, was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer and Mrs. C. E. Sawyer, White Oak, during his stay here.

Lieutenant Deater, Dr. and Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. C. E. Sawyer, together with about 20 members of the band were guests at a special Italian dinner last night at the American Italian Restaurant, S. Main-st.

MAN RELEASED

Virgil Smith Agrees To Make Up Back Payments

Trouble is coming on the trail of Virgil Smith, leader.

After paying a fine of $10 and costs, an intoxication charge on Monday afternoon, Smith was arrested yesterday on an affidavit filed by his wife charging him with having failed to keep up his payments for the support of a minor child. He was released by Judge Martin in municipal court yesterday afternoon when he made satisfactory arrangements to make up $55 in back payments.

BICYCLE STOLEN

Tom Johnston, 423 Girard-ay, reported to the police late last night that someone had stolen his Dayton bicycle.

$18,710 IN BONDS DELIVERED TO BUYER

County Officials Take Two Road Issues to Teachers' Retirement Board

O. W. Kinnaman, president of the board of county commissioners, and Clyde C. Caldwell, deputy county supervisor, went to Columbus today and delivered road bonds amounting to $18,710 to the state teachers' retirement board, the bonds having been sold to that department several weeks ago.

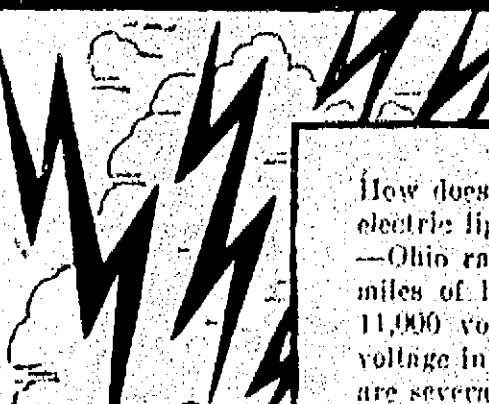

The bonds consisted of two issues, one of $10,250 for the Denzard improvement and the other $8,460 for the Gearhizer rd. Both roads are in Waldo and Highland townships. Contracts for the improvements have been let and the work is expected to start next spring. Sale of the bonds to the state teachers' retirement board was negotiated by T. A. O'Leary, clerk of the board of county commissioners, under provisions of a new law which permits purchase of county securities by the retirement fund without payment of premium.

By disposing of bonds in this way, counties save the expense of advertising and eliminate other costs incurred in advertising for bids. These are the first issues sold by Marion County under the new plan. Both issues bear interest at the rate of 4.00 per cent.

HUNTER FINED $25 AND COSTS BY JUDGE MARTIN

George Ull, Chicago-av., arrested by Game Warden Neimeyer Saturday afternoon after he had shot a quail, a rabbit and a pheasant, drew a minimum fine of $25 and costs when he pleaded guilty to a charge of hunting out of season before Judge Martin in municipal court yesterday afternoon.

Ull was arrested in Claridon Township and brought to police headquarters here. He later was released on his own recognizance for his appearance in court Monday. The hearing was continued until yesterday afternoon.

ELECTRICITY
How does Ohio rank in the construction of electric light and power transmission lines?—Ohio ranks high, having more than 6,000 miles of high tension transmission lines of 11,000 volts or more. The predominating voltage in the state is 23,000, although there are several lines of 132,000 volts.

Our Boys' Dept—The Best And Most Complete Within 50 Miles!

FEW cities can boast of a Boys' Dept. such as ours. The entire second floor of our store is devoted to Boys' Wear. The boys are our friends. We know what they like. Their parents are pleased with our large selection and reasonable prices, too.
